

108

Protection of Inventions &c

The operators and mechanics appear to be dissatisfied with the arrangements which it has been rumoured to them will be adopted in regard to protecting the designs or models which will be exhibited in 1851. If any man will withhold inventions or designs of value — they complain that in exhibiting any invention of merit, it will be open to the inspection of all the world for months