

their hopes of being paid on the future Receipts, would necessarily be very expensive - and that obtaining a loan from parties who would look to the same source, would be an unwise proceeding, damaging to the Character of the Commission.
He thought that the Bank of England would advance the Money on proper security, viz. that of the Gov^t the Prince, and that of several responsible persons joining in a